APPLICATION	Organization wide
RESPONSIBILITY	Board, Management, Staff
DISTRIBUTION	Board, Management, Staff
REVIEW DATE	2 yearly

1.INTRODUCTION

The ethical climate of a non-profit organisation is an essential element in establishing its credibility and furthering its mission. An organisational culture that takes ethical considerations into account at every point cannot be produced simply by having the Board lay down a code; ethical principles must arise from consultation with and responsiveness to the organisation’s members, clients, employees, volunteers, and stakeholders.

2.PURPOSE

This policy is designed to provide guidelines for procedures that will allow BCDC to evolve a consensus on the ethical principles that should guide its conduct.

3.POLICY

BCDC commits itself to operating in accordance with an ethical code drawn up through agreed procedures following consultation with members, clients, employees, volunteers, and stakeholders.

4.RESPONSIBILITIES

It shall be the responsibility of the Board to appoint an Ethics Committee headed by a Coordinator and including among its membership the Secretary of the Board.

The Coordinator of the Ethics Committee shall be responsible for carrying out the process of developing a Code of Ethics for the organisation.

The CEO shall be responsible for disseminating the eventual Code of Ethics and of ensuring its observance.

BURMEASE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT COLLABORATION

CODE OF ETHICS PROCEDURES

1. The Ethics Committee shall organise consultation with members, clients, employees, volunteers, and stakeholders on

- The values that the organisation wishes to embody, and
- The specific ethical imperatives that are implied by these values.

2. The discussions around these issues should be used as a means to raise awareness of the significance of ethical attitudes to the effective operation of the organisation.

3. The Committee shall then

- Review the policies of the organisation to ensure that these are not in conflict with the organisation's ethical principles, and
- Draw up a draft Code of Ethics for the organisation.

4. It should be noted that the organisation's ethical position is represented both by the organisation's policies and by its Code of Ethics, and any particular ethical guideline does not necessarily need to be repeated in both.

5. The draft Code of Ethics should then be circulated for discussion and comment to members, clients, employees, volunteers, and stakeholders. Again, the discussion should be used to forward a commitment among all concerned with the organisation to the ethical operation of the organisation.

6. The Ethics Committee shall forward a final draft of the Code of Ethics to the Board. The Board may make any alterations it sees fit, and the resulting Code of Ethics shall be presented for the approval of the membership at the next General Meeting.

7. Once the Code of Ethics has been approved by the General Meeting it shall be implemented by the organisation. Procedures should then be instituted to provide sanctions and penalties for breaches of the Code.
